A person doesn't have to be a consensus organizer to think like one. Consensus Organizing: A Community Development Workbook--A Comprehensive Guide to Designing, Implementing, and Evaluating Community Change Initiatives helps students and practitioners begin to think like consensus organizers and incorporate this way of strategic thinking into their lives and their work. Through a wide range of exercises, role-play activities, case scenarios, and discussion questions, this workbook presents the conceptual framework for consensus organizing and provides a practical and experiential approach to understanding and applying consensus organizing to address a range of issues. This workbook is designed to be used by itself or along with Mike Eichler's text Consensus Organizing: Building Communities of Mutual Self Interest (SAGE, 2007). Accompanying Website Instructors and students have access to the many activities and cases on the accompanying website at www.sagepub.com/ohmerworkbookstudy.

Learn how to properly evaluate and use existing research data and how to conduct your own original research. This authoritative text gives provides a comprehensive foundation for appraisal, synthesis, and generation of research evidence for clinical nursing practice. This new edition also features enhanced coverage of the research methods most applicable to evidence-based practice (outcomes research, intervention research, and translational research), along with a significant increase in the coverage of qualitative research methodologies. Comprehensive coverage of nursing research organizes content into five units: Introduction to Nursing Research, Nursing Research Processes, Tools for Evidence-Based Healthcare, Strategies for Analyzing Research and Building an Evidence-Based Practice, and Writing Proposals and Obtaining Funding. Rich and frequent examples from the literature demonstrate the importance and immediacy of research in nursing practice and bring principles to life through the context of actual published studies. Strong coverage of quantitative and other clinically-applicable research methodologies gives you a solid grounding to conduct, appraise, and apply research evidence to the realities of clinical practice in today's healthcare environment. NEW! Enhanced emphasis on evidence-based practice equips you to generate research evidence and to appraise and synthesize existing research for application to clinical practice. Using the ANCC Magnet Recognition Program criteria as a point of focus, this book prepares you for today's emphasis on evidence-based practice in the clinical setting. NEW! Expanded emphasis on qualitative research addresses phenomenological research, grounded theory research, ethnographic research, exploratory-descriptive research, and historical research to support the development of nursing. NEW! Updated coverage of digital data collection guides you through use of the internet for research and addresses the unique considerations surrounding digital data collection methods. NEW! Pageburst ebook study guide gives you the opportunity to fully master and apply the text content in a convenient electronic format with integrated interactive review questions.

"Building Recovery by Improving Goals, Habits, and Thoughts (BRIGHT) is a group cognitive behavioral therapy, or CBT, to treat depression in people with substance abuse problems. BRIGHT is a 16-week program with four modules focused on Thoughts, Activities, People, and Substance abuse. Each module explores how these domains affect one's mood. In a quasi-experimental controlled trial, BRIGHT improved depression symptoms and substance use in individuals with substance abuse problems when delivered by addiction counselors. In a follow-up project, BRIGHT was expanded to treat depression and problems associated with alcohol or drug use (BRIGHT-2). BRIGHT-2 is an 18-week program with three modules focused on Thoughts, Activities, and People. Strategies for managing substance abuse are integrated throughout each module. BRIGHT and BRIGHT-2 are based on detailed treatment manuals. The manuals are user-friendly and were designed to help non-mental health professionals deliver evidence-based treatment. Program materials include leader introductions, session-by-session leader manuals, and session-by-session member workbooks. All materials are available for free online. BRIGHT and BRIGHT-2 were collaborative efforts between the RAND Corporation and Behavioral Health Services, a not-for-profit community-based healthcare organization providing substance abuse, mental health, drug-free transitional living, older adult services, HIV/AIDS education and prevention, and other related health service to the residents of Southern California. BRIGHT was sponsored by the National Institute on Alcohol Abuse and Alcoholism and BRIGHT-2 was sponsored by the National Institute on Drug Abuse."--Provided by publisher.
